

Coach Cass Delivers Breakthrough Moment at 'Bloom' Hosted by Caribbean Women's Network Founder Kerra Denel

Coach Cass delivered a powerful keynote at Bloom, inspiring professional women to embrace love and success without sacrificing either.

FORT LAUDERDALE, FL, UNITED STATES, March 26, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Just days after the Bloom experience hosted by Kerra Denel, founder of the Caribbean Women's Network, the buzz around Dr. Casandra "Coach Cass" Henriquez's transformative keynote continues to grow. Held on March 16, the event gathered Caribbean powerhouses including Alison Hinds, the 'Soca Queen'; Yendi Phillipps, Miss Jamaica Universe 2010; and celebrity chef Chef Thia—yet it was Coach Cass who sparked a lasting emotional shift in the room.

Coach Cass electrifying the crowd while speaking at Bloom

Known as the love coach for professional women, Coach Cass delivered a high-impact talk that had attendees rising to their feet, deeply engaged in her message about love, wholeness, and emotional breakthrough.

This was my first time hearing Coach Cass speak—she was electric! Her message resonated with every woman in the room. I can't wait for the next opportunity to work alongside her.”

“Too many professional women feel like they have to choose between success and love,” said Coach Cass. “At Bloom, I reminded them that they are worthy of both—and that fulfillment in one area doesn't require sacrifice in another.”

Her words hit home, prompting moments of both reflection and release.

“This was my first time hearing Coach Cass speak—she was electric!” one attendee shared. “She set the tone, and her message resonated with every woman in the room, including myself. I can’t wait to work alongside her again.”

Kerra Denel, the trailblazing founder of CWN, curated Bloom as a safe space where Caribbean women could unite in empowerment, legacy, and purpose. With each speaker bringing their unique energy, Coach Cass stood out for her ability to create instant connection and deep transformation.
