David Marlon, Founder of Vegas Stronger

This isn't just another night of boxing. Fights of Fury XI is a community-powered fundraiser designed to combat two of Las Vegas' most pressing issues: homelessness and addiction. With over 14 action-packed bouts, spectators will experience edge-of-the-seat excitement while supporting Vegas Stronger's mission to break the cycle of addiction, mental illness, and homelessness through evidence-based, compassionate care.

Fighting for a Future Without Addiction

At Vegas Stronger, every punch thrown in the ring represents a fight for second chances, long-term recovery, and life-saving care. All proceeds from the event will go directly to supporting treatment for underserved individuals struggling with addiction and mental illness in Las Vegas.

As a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, Vegas Stronger offers an innovative, holistic approach to healing that includes therapy, case management, housing support, medical care, fitness, and behavioral health treatment—all without the red tape or insurance barriers that limit other programs.

"Fights of Fury is about more than boxing. It's about bringing people together to fight for something bigger—hope, healing, and a better future for Las Vegas," said David Marlon, founder of Vegas Stronger. "Every ticket sold helps us provide immediate access to care and a real shot at recovery for those who need it most."
