TOMAH, WI, UNITED STATES, March 24, 2025
/EINPresswire.com/ --

Labertha Darensbourg McCormick, an award-winning poet and performer, presents her work, "Hurry! Hurry, My Children". This evocative collection of poetry offers readers a blend of wisdom, humor, and heartfelt urgency, inviting them to reflect on life's complexities while finding solace and hope.

About the Book

In "Hurry! Hurry, My Children", McCormick guides readers through life's challenges with her unique voice, rich in folk vernacular and profound insight. Through her poems, she provides advice on navigating life's predicaments in ways that balance the harmonious with the serious. Each piece is a beacon of hope, encouraging readers to find light amid life's dilemmas and circumstances.

While not every poem directly relates to the book's title, McCormick imbues each one with a sense of urgency and purpose, inspiring readers to reflect deeply on their own journey. The titular poem, "Hurry, Hurry, My Children," serves as a poignant call to prepare for the "Great Transformation," underscoring the book's spiritual undertone. True to her creative style, McCormick intertwines moments of humor with serious reflections, embodying the biblical wisdom of "Blessed be the merry heart." Her writing is a heartfelt blend of enlightenment, preparation, and healing.
