This multi-year contract includes 24/7 protective services at VA hospitals, outpatient clinics, and administrative locations throughout the Greater Los Angeles area—one of the nation’s most complex and high-traffic VA regions. The award expands Servexo’s on-the-ground force to over 120 trained security professionals in Los Angeles alone, supported by cutting-edge monitoring systems and local operational leadership.

“This contract is a defining moment for our company,” said John Palmer, CEO of Servexo. “It’s right in our backyard, and it has been a long-standing desire for our company to service our local VA. Our very first federal contract was with the Department of Veterans Affairs in Long Beach, CA — so this award brings our journey full circle.”

Servexo currently services over 50+ Department of Veterans Affairs facilities nationwide, and has become the premier provider of protective services for the VA in Southern California, with active operations in:

- San Diego
- Escondido
- Chula Vista
