ABOUT WOMEN GOT GAME™

Women Got Game is a multi-city summit and tournament featuring conversations, connections, and competitions aimed at introducing women of color in high school and college to successful female corporate partners and entrepreneurs in the gaming/esports industry. As the first-of-its-kind program, WGG facilitates mentorship and networking between industry leaders and aspiring young women.

Trailblazer Keshia Walker launched WGG in March 2021 after more than 20 years of running a successful celebrity events and experiential marketing firm. She made history as the first Black woman to enter the male-dominated field of collegiate gaming and esports. To date, gaming labs have been established in 17 HBCUs across the country, with continued efforts in virtual and on-campus curriculums, intercollegiate video gaming competitions, internships, and post-graduation job opportunities.
