At the International Haute Couture Diana Mahrach's 2025 Fashion Week's Runway Gala, at 3 West 51st and Fifth Avenue, Anita, recently a Diana Mahrach's Ambassador appointed model was garbed in the designer's elegant black and red gown. A week later, surprisingly with ease, Anita's multi-tasked autographing customers' purchases of her tutorial ice-skating book, while modeling some Mahrach's designer collections, in Wall Street's Dept Store, New York City.

"My return to previous runway and hair modeling , with the late Veronica Forbes, and guest host appearances on the Debbie Given's Cable TV show, was inevitable," Anita pleasantly recalls.
"Including that which I won in France. Yes, I'm comfortable with my forthcoming reprinted color tutorial book to be available on Amazon, because I was previously reluctant. Back then, employed as a full-time legal word processor. help financed my book. Several years later my freestyle ice-skater video tutorial was produced and aired on King Melvin Brown's Mind Tuning Multimedia's Roku TV platform."

About 30 years ago, Sere Newsom inspired Jones' ice-skating. During the 1980s Debbie Thomas a Black woman, won a U.S. Olympics' Bronze Medal. Mabel Fairbanks is the only Black female inducted into the U.S. Figure Skating Hall of Fame.

As seen in New York Global.Biz Magazine's Dec/Jan. 2025 issue of Anita's retro full-page cover ad, comprise nine photos modeling Seventh Avenue's popular prestigious female furrier's Julianna Furs in Black Noir Magazine, when natural furs were legally sold.

As published in New York Global.Biz and About Men's Fall Magazines, Mind Tuning Multimedia's

Anita Jones' engaging interviews are second to none. Both publications feature her books and more. - -END —.
