"I don't just talk about the future. I see it. I feel it. I align with it," said Hardie. "And I'm inviting Californians to help bring that vision into reality."

“

The other candidates play politics. I shift reality. I am not just in this race—I plan to rewrite the game of politics. Just like our president Donald Trump."

A Visionary Yet Grounded Plan for California
At the center of Hardie's campaign is a practical, people-focused platform aimed at addressing California's biggest challenges—from affordability and business flight to infrastructure decay and job access.

Her California Comeback plan includes:

Tax Incentives for Business Growth — Encouraging corporations to return and reinvest in California communities

Job Creation — Developing sustainable opportunities across tech, green energy, small business, and hospitality

Infrastructure Investment — Modernizing public transit, roads, broadband, and innovation hubs

Direct Financial Relief — Easing the burden on families and individuals through targeted support initiatives

What distinguishes Sharifah Hardie’s campaign from other candidates is not just her policy, but her approach—leading through intention, alignment, and faith in the people of California.

“While others try to control outcomes, I work to align with them,” Sharifah Hardie said. “That’s how movements are born. That’s how empires are built. That’s how real change begins.”
