Artificial Intelligence is impacting and transforming every industry including the investor space. RedChip Companies recently introduced a new AI small-cap and mid-cap investment tool called RedChat.

Dave Gentry is the author of Small Stocks, Big Money, published by Wiley. This is a book of interviews with the world’s most successful, small-cap investors. He is a consultant to more than 1,000 public companies and has assisted dozens of public companies in the up-listing and capital-raising process.

He has appeared on CNBC and Fox Business News, is a member of the Forbes Business Council and among other things is known as a thought leader in the small-cap space.

RedChip Companies, is an Inc. 5000 company, is an international investor relations, media, and research firm focused on microcap and small-cap companies.

It has developed the most comprehensive service platform in the industry for microcap and small-cap companies.

RedChip is an industry leader in investor relations, media, and research for microcap and small-cap companies, recently announced the beta launch of RedChat, an advanced AI chatbot designed to empower investors with instant, in-depth insights into over 2,000 small-cap and microcap stocks.

This cutting-edge tool is available free of charge. It leverages best-in-class artificial intelligence to provide context-rich answers drawn directly from SEC filings, press releases, and other critical company disclosures.

"RedChat is a game-changer for the small-cap investment community," said CEO Gentry. "For decades, investors have struggled to navigate the vast and often opaque world of small-cap stocks. RedChat changes the game, delivering needed information instantly. Whether you're seeking clarity on a company's financials, recent announcements, or strategic direction, RedChat offers unparalleled efficiency and precision."

RedChat is accessible at www.redchip.com/stocks, where investors can take advantage of its robust capabilities and experience a more efficient approach to stock research.

"Small-cap investors often face unique challenges when it comes to accessing timely and accurate information," added Gentry. "With RedChat, we're leveling the playing field, equipping investors with a tool that eliminates guesswork and puts the power of AI at their fingertips."
