“The skilled labor shortage is real- and it’s impacting businesses like mine every day,” said Chad Paulin, President and Owner of CMP Plumbing. “As we celebrate our 30th year in business, I’m more committed than ever to passing on what I’ve learned and helping the next generation find their way into this industry. College isn’t the only path to success. The trades offer high wages, job security, and a real sense of purpose—and I want young people to know that.”
