The gala will honor the 2025 class of Black History Makers From Home—remarkable individuals and institutions recognized for their dedication to education, community upliftment, and cultural preservation. This year's distinguished honorees include:

- Dr. Alan Rowe, U Can Go To College
- Holly Brown, Community Leader and former executive, Schools First Credit Union
- Dr. Edward Bush, PhD, President of Cosumnes River College
- Anita Clay, former Diversity Initiative Director, SMUD

- U.S. Bank, Business Community Service Honoree

Taking the stage for a centerpiece performance, Mariea Antoinette will enchant the audience with her genre-defying artistry—blending classical precision, jazz sophistication, and soulful funk rhythms. Known for her luxurious style and captivating stage presence, Mariea has stunned global audiences with her reimagined renditions of contemporary hits, as well as her original compositions.

“Being invited to perform at such a meaningful celebration of Black excellence is an honor. I’m looking forward to creating a magical, soul-stirring experience with my music in a room filled with legacy makers,” said Mariea Antoinette.

Joining Mariea on the evening’s entertainment lineup are the Seastrunk Brothers from San Francisco, known for their vibrant renditions of Motown classics, Sacramento’s own Foe Deep quartet, and a powerful Gospel choir performance.

“This is going to be a wonderful event honoring Black excellence. Mariea is the perfect artist to perform. Everything about her craft says luxury,” said her publicist, Desirae L. Benson. “Those attending are in for a truly memorable experience.”

This long-standing Sacramento tradition brings together change makers, visionaries, and artists whose past and present contributions are shaping the future. This year’s theme, “Our Dreams From The Past, Inspire Hope For The Future,” reminds attendees that the legacies we celebrate today were built on resilience, creativity, and care for community.
