Below this, in large bold black letters, is "The fast, efficient way to learn dermatology". To the right is a cartoon owl wearing a white lab coat and a stethoscope. Above the owl is a gold seal that says "Earn CME CREDITS" and "AMA PRA Category 1 Credit". Below the owl, in small black text, is "Providing healthcare professionals with reliable and flexible online dermatology education, ensuring you're well-prepared for your next dermatological challenge." At the bottom of the graphic, a grey box contains the text: "Dermwise is committed to supporting healthcare providers of all levels who are seeking to improve their knowledge and skills in diagnosing and treating dermatological conditions."

As the demand for highly skilled dermatology APPs continues to grow, Dermwise is committed to making dermatology education more accessible and effective. By partnering with myDermRecruiter, Dermwise ensures that APPs and other medical professionals have access to expert-led, self-paced online courses designed to simplify the learning process and provide comprehensive dermatology training.

“At Dermwise, we understand the challenges that come with mastering dermatology, and we are dedicated to providing an innovative, structured approach to learning,” said Dr. Roger T. Moore, CEO at Dermwise. “This partnership with myDermRecruiter enables us to reach more professionals, empowering them with the skills and confidence they need to excel in the field.”

Founded in 2015 by board-certified dermatologist Dr. Roger T. Moore, Dermwise was created to alleviate the complexities of didactic learning in dermatology. The platform's fully online, self-paced curriculum allows professionals to learn at their convenience while gaining valuable, real-world dermatology knowledge. The three Dermwise courses collectively feature over 8,500 high-resolution, clinical images, providing learners with an unparalleled visual reference to support diagnostic accuracy and clinical confidence.

"We're happy to be able to refer the many NPs and PAs we work with who don't have dermatology experience to such a great tool to gain practical knowledge as they try to get into the field of dermatology," said Michelle Sullentrup, CEO of myDermRecruiter. "Dermwise's approach makes learning accessible and engaging, and this partnership will help these professionals feel more confident and prepared as they pursue a career in dermatology."

Through this partnership, APPs and other medical professionals can now take advantage of an exclusive $250 discount on Dermwise courses by registering through this exclusive link. Participants in Dermwise courses are eligible to earn AMA PRA Category 1 Credits, AAPA Category 1 CME Credits and AANP contact hours, including pharmacology hours. Those who complete all three courses will also earn the Dermwise Dermatology Mastery Certificate, a credential that recognizes advanced training and dedication to dermatology excellence.
