It's a simple act, but one with huge impact: This April, the David Foster Foundation is asking Canadians to become a registered organ & tissue donor

VANCOUVER, BRITISH COLUMBIA, CANADA, April 3, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Did you know that Canada still has one of the worst organ and tissue donor rates of all developing countries? This is what the David Foster Foundation wants to change this April for National Organ & Tissue Donation Awareness Month by raising awareness about the critical need to become a registered organ donor and how a little support can make a big difference.

The David Foster Foundation is a national non-profit Canadian charitable organization that was founded by 16-time Grammy award winning producer David Foster, who started the Foundation after a request from his mother. The Foundation is dedicated to providing financial support for non-medical expenses to Canadian families with children in need of pediatric organ transplants. The Foundation has supported 29% of Canadian families whose child received a liver, kidney, heart or lung transplant in 2022.

“Would you take two minutes to help save a life? That is a simple question I am asking every Canadian,” said David Foster, Founder and Chairman, David Foster Foundation. “Organ donation is more than a gesture; it can be your legacy.”

Little gestures help make a big difference, especially when the alarming numbers show the urgency for organ donation. We encourage everyone to speak to their families about becoming a donor.”

Some interesting Canadian organ donor facts and numbers as of the end of 2024 to be aware of:

- Over 4,000 Canadians are currently waiting for a life-saving organ transplant.
- Of those on the wait-list, the number of deaths work out to roughly 5 deaths per week and 1 death every 30 hours, all which could be avoided.
- 1 organ donor can save up to 8 lives and improve the quality of life for up to 75 people.
- From living donors, over 50% were from relatives and friends while the remaining were from unrelated donors.
- Of the total transplants conducted, roughly 59% were kidney, 19% liver, 13% lung, 5% heart, 2% pancreas and 2% combination transplants.

- You are 6x more likely to need a transplant than to become an organ donor.

“Little gestures help make a big difference, especially when the alarming numbers show the urgent need for organ donation,” added HCol. Michael Ravenhill, Chief Executive Officer, David Foster Foundation. “We encourage everyone to make a small donation or speak to their families about becoming an organ donor.”

There are multiple ways for Canadians to support people on the wait-list, including:

- 1) Visit us at www.davidfosterfoundation.com to see how you can help,
- 2) Talk to their loved ones about organ and tissue donation and register to become a donor,
- 3) Follow @TheDavidFosterFoundation on Facebook, @davidfosterfdn on Twitter and @davidfosterfoundation on Instagram for the latest news and stories from the families we have helped.

Over the past 39 years, the Foundation has assisted over 1,500 families with children in need of life-saving organ transplants and provided much-needed dollars in direct family support.
