

The Spray Source: Equipping DIYers and Professionals with Complete, Affordable Automotive Paint Kits

MASSACHUSETTS, MA, UNITED STATES, April 7, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Spray Source, a growing force in the automotive refinishing world, is redefining what it means to paint a vehicle at home with confidence. Known for their painter-built product line and the world's first truly complete car spray paint kits, The Spray Source is making high-quality auto refinishing more accessible than ever—just in time for spring project season.

Founded by Tommy, a lifelong automotive enthusiast and paint expert, The Spray Source evolved from humble beginnings in a basement workshop to a trusted name in the custom paint and bodywork industry. After launching Alpha Pigments in 2014—developing custom colors that gained a worldwide following—Tommy acquired The Spray Source during the pandemic with a clear goal: to build an affordable, high-quality brand that simplifies painting for both DIYers and professionals.

“There were too many barriers between people and painting their dream project,” said Tommy, owner of The Spray Source. “I wanted to remove the guesswork. With our complete paint kits, you just choose your color and answer four questions. We handle the rest.”

These all-in-one kits—tailored to the project's size, type, and working temperature—come with everything needed from primer to clearcoat. Customers also receive professional guidance, including video walkthroughs, written tips, and responsive support from an experienced team.

The Spray Source is also home to exclusive automotive paint supplies, like Alpha Automotive Paint, a line built from the ground up to replicate show-quality finishes with easier application. Other sought-after offerings include Linear Blocking Tools and lighting solutions from Luma III, all curated with a painter's perspective in mind.

With spring underway, DIYers and pro shops alike are turning to The Spray Source's kits to refresh their vehicles in time for summer. And with new product lines—such as spray can kits for calipers, wheels, and even guitars—the company continues expanding its reach across industries and creative communities.

In addition to its consumer offerings, The Spray Source also supports body shops and auto pros through its TSS Professionals Program, which offers discounted pricing, priority shipping, and wholesale support via tssprofessionals.com.

The Spray Source has been featured on MotorTrend TV and will be showcasing its Alpha Automotive Paint line at SEMA 2024, reinforcing its growing presence in the industry.
