

Boise-Made Film to Premiere During WCA Gala at The Flicks

Stockton to Table Rock, a coming of age drama filmed in Idaho, will screen from May 9th through the 15th at The Flicks in Boise.

BOISE, ID, UNITED STATES, April 15, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- On Friday, May 9, 2025, The Flicks will begin its run of Stockton to Table Rock, an Idaho-made indie film that has received numerous awards at film festivals across the country. As part of opening night, the theater will host a silent auction to benefit the WCA with a portion of ticket sales and all auction proceeds donated to the organization.

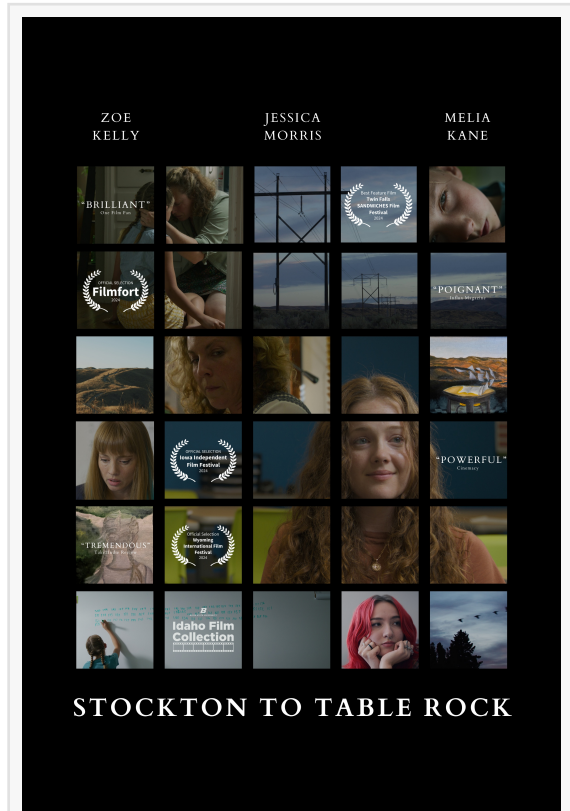

Rick's Cafe Americain will have live music, community speakers, and a curated selection of auction items from local businesses - including theater tickets, restaurant gift cards, and fine art. Walk the red carpet and mingle with Treasure Valley activists and filmmakers. The evening will be a celebration of the Idaho artistic community and the WCA's impact in Boise.

A poignant coming-of-age drama, Stockton to Table Rock features acclaimed work from local actors Zoe Kelly (Idaho Shakespeare Festival) and Jessica Morris (Boise Contemporary Theater) as well as a stunning score from Boise-based musician Jesse Blake Rundle. Following a high school senior who confronts her abusive mother, the film has been critically lauded for its nuanced look at mental health. "An authentic-driven narrative," Cinemacy's Morgan Rojas says, "that will touch hearts and signal to anyone struggling that they are not alone."

The WCA has been a cornerstone in the Boise community for over a century, offering safety, healing, and freedom from domestic abuse and sexual assault. Their comprehensive services include secure shelter, 24-hour hotlines, court advocacy, and therapeutic support.
