

Filmmakers Worldwide Can Now Own a Stake in Hollywood and Help Build a New Creator Economy

SHARE Launches WeFunder Campaign, Inviting Filmmakers to Invest in their Future in Hollywood

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, April 8, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- SHARE, the revolutionary platform changing how films are funded, created, and monetized, has officially launched its equity crowdfunding campaign on WeFunder. For as little as $200, film lovers and filmmakers across the globe can now become equity owners in a company that's rewriting the rules of Hollywood.

SHARE Platform

Built on the belief that creators deserve more than just credits, SHARE is introducing a new financial structure for the entertainment industry, one that prioritizes profit-sharing,

The time is now for filmmakers to own a piece of the industry they love and pour their hearts into—no more creating without a stake in the success.”

Erin Norman, CEO and Co-Founder of SHARE

transparency, and long-term sustainability. By giving creatives real ownership in the projects they help bring to life, SHARE is not just building a company, it's building a future.

“By giving creators a stake in the platform and the profits they help generate, we're not just empowering careers, we're offering a new kind of financial security in an industry that rarely thinks long-term.” said Erin Norman, CEO and Co-Founder of SHARE.

Through SHARE, creators from every corner of the world can find collaborators, build passion projects, and participate in backend profit-sharing on every film they touch. The platform's mission is simple but bold: to usher in a new creator economy where filmmakers thrive and everyone who participates in a project, shares in its success.

As an added perk, investors in the WeFunder campaign will receive a free one-year membership to SHARE, plus lifetime VIP access to all SHARE-hosted film premieres, screenings, and events around the world.

With the entertainment industry slowly dying, SHARE offers a new path forward—one where creators, fans, and investors win together.
