About Crusaders for Change, LLC

At Crusaders for Change (C4C), we believe a financially secure workforce is a powerful asset for any organization. We're not just about personal finance; we're dedicated to helping businesses, nonprofits, and local, state, and federal government organizations build a thriving culture of financial well-being for their employees. As a certified woman-owned, minority-owned, and military spouse-owned small business, C4C shares a commitment to public service and understands the values that drive employees.

We leverage our diverse backgrounds to develop culturally sensitive programs that address the specific financial concerns of your workforce, whether it's managing student loan debt, planning for retirement on a fixed income, or navigating the complexities of benefits. This combination of experience and shared values allows C4C to build trust and rapport with individuals, fostering a more receptive and engaged audience for our financial wellness initiatives.
