Dr. Kollar

Dr. Carolyn Kollar, DO, FACOOG, founder of Premier Women's Health and board-certified OB/GYN, recognizes the often-overlooked connection between women's hormonal health and hair loss. This strategic collaboration introduces GetHairMD's comprehensive suite of FDA-cleared hair restoration treatments to address the unique hair loss concerns women face throughout various life stages.

"Throughout my years of practice, I've witnessed countless women silently struggling with hair loss, often feeling it's an inevitable part of aging or motherhood," said Dr. Kollar. "I partnered with GetHairMD because their multi-modality approach aligns perfectly with our holistic view of women's health. Hair loss isn't just cosmetic—it's deeply connected to hormonal balance, genetics, nutrition, and overall wellness, areas we've always addressed in our practice."

The partnership brings personalized hair restoration options specifically tailored to address female pattern baldness, postpartum hair loss, and thinning related to menopause and hormonal shifts. Treatments now available include:

- Advanced low-level laser therapy optimized for female pattern hair loss
- Revolutionary FDA-cleared TransDermal Infusion therapy, delivering specialized hair growth serums directly to the follicle
- Customized prescription-strength topical solutions formulated for women's unique needs
- Comprehensive nutritional and hormonal assessment to address root causes

Premier Women's Health has been a cornerstone of women's healthcare in Mansfield since 2009, supporting women through puberty, pregnancy, menopause, and beyond. The addition of GetHairMD's solutions complements their existing services in obstetrics, gynecology, and aesthetics, creating a truly comprehensive approach to women's health and confidence.

"Mansfield's vibrant, family-oriented community deserves access to the most advanced hair restoration options available," said Paul Herchman, GetHairMD CEO. "Dr. Kollar's deep understanding of women's health through all life stages makes her practice the perfect partner to bring these solutions to women in the DFW metroplex. Her holistic approach to women's wellness perfectly complements our philosophy that effective hair restoration must be personalized to each patient's unique needs."

This new hair growth service will compliment the Premier Women's Health's mission of "help you reconnect to the things you love in life." GetHairMD's approach has consistently achieved success rates exceeding 90% through their doctor-supervised, multi-modality programs.
