Conversa Solutions*

The Android Enterprise Gold Partner validation places Ensemble MDM among an elite group of enterprise mobility solutions that meet Google's rigorous security, reliability, and usability standards for managing Android devices. Businesses leveraging Ensemble MDM for Android device management can confidently deploy, secure, and manage Android devices at scale while benefiting from robust support and seamless integration with Android Enterprise's powerful management features.

While this milestone represents a major achievement for Android MDM solutions, Ensemble MDM is a comprehensive, cross-platform MDM solution that extends beyond Android, offering full support for Apple iOS device management as well. This ensures businesses can manage their entire mobile ecosystem through a single, unified MDM platform, simplifying IT operations and enhancing enterprise security across diverse device environments.

“Achieving Gold validation as an Android Enterprise Partner is a testament to the strength and versatility of Ensemble MDM,” said Luke Brown, Director of Sales, at Conversa Solutions. “We are committed to empowering businesses with a seamless, secure, and scalable mobile device management solution that supports both Android and Apple devices, helping them achieve their mobility goals with confidence.”

As organizations increasingly rely on enterprise mobility management (EMM) solutions to drive productivity and efficiency, Ensemble MDM continues to set the standard for enterprise-grade mobile device management. With its newly earned Android Enterprise Gold Partner status, Conversa Solutions reaffirms its dedication to innovation, security, and superior customer support.
