Sourcwell, a government agency, simplifies the procurement process for state, local, and non-profit entities, enabling them to access cost-effective solutions. Through its rigorous vetting process, Sourcwell ensures that agencies can leverage the pricing power of a national cooperative, streamlining purchasing while securing the best pricing without additional bidding.

Black Box Safety has partnered with Point Blank Enterprises to offer state, local, and non-profit agencies exclusive discounts on body armor and related tactical gear accessories across their product portfolio.

"This contract underscores our commitment to equipping public safety professionals with reliable and high-quality protective gear," said Jackson Dalton, President of Black Box Safety. "By offering competitive pricing and an efficient procurement process, we aim to support agencies in maintaining officer safety without financial or administrative burdens."

How to Access the Contract:

Public safety agencies that are Sourcewell members—or those considering enrollment—can immediately take advantage of this contract's benefits. Black Box Safety's team is ready to assist agencies in identifying the best protective solutions for their needs.
