

Nadine Nader Releases Powerful New Historical Novel: Tears in the Danube

A Gripping Tale of Survival, Love, and Resilience in Nazi-Occupied Austria

CA, UNITED STATES, April 9, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Promoted by Atticus Publishing, acclaimed retired English professor and Holocaust literature educator, Nadine Nader, has released a gripping historical novel, Tears in the Danube. Based on a true story, the novel details the heart-wrenching journey of Wilhem Jurim, a Jewish man forced to flee Austria following the Nazi invasion. Told from Jurim's perspective as an elderly gentleman, the book explores his concerns for his Christian wife and daughters, his personal experiences under Nazi rule, and the broader plight of Jews during this harrowing period in history.

The novel was inspired by a real letter that Wilhem Jurim wrote to his sister and brother, detailing his ordeal and the persecution of Jews in Austria. Nader's dedication to Holocaust literature and education brings authenticity and depth to this moving narrative, offering readers a poignant and thought-provoking exploration of history's darkest chapter.

About the Author Nadine Nader is a retired English professor who dedicated nearly four decades to teaching Holocaust literature. Her passion for the subject began in sixth grade and deepened after reading Night by Elie Wiesel during her college years. Encouraged by her students to write a book, she finally embarked on the project after retirement, drawing inspiration from a friend's grandfather's letter. When she's not writing, she enjoys spending time on the beach, at the pool, or browsing thrift stores. She lives in Ormond Beach, Florida, with her beloved cats, Sammy and Itzy.

A Timely Message The core message of Tears in the Danube is a warning against the creeping dangers of Nazism and totalitarianism. Nader emphasizes that the Holocaust could happen again if people do not remain vigilant in protecting their rights. Through this novel, she hopes to educate and inspire readers to reflect on the past to prevent history from repeating itself.
