

PatientsMedical.com and Surrogacy4All Launch National Induced Lactation Program for Intended Parents using Surrogacy

Breakthrough service helps mothers who did not carry their baby—through surrogacy or adoption—to breastfeed using hormone-based lactation induction protocols.

NEW YORK, NY, NY, UNITED STATES, April 9, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- PatientsMedical.com, one of the nation's oldest hormone-focused integrative medical practice founded in 1974, in collaboration with Surrogacy4All, a large fully licensed international surrogacy agency, has launched a groundbreaking Induced Lactation and Parental Bonding Program aimed at helping non-gestational mothers breastfeed their children.

Dr. Rashmi Gulati, MD, Board Certified in Internal Medicine

This new service combines safe, physician-supervised hormone protocols with lactation support, psychological counseling, and nutritional care. It allows mothers who did not experience pregnancy—such as those using gestational carriers, adoptive parents, and same-sex female couples—to establish a milk supply and breastfeed their baby, building the intimate maternal bond typically formed during early postpartum.

I didn't carry my daughter, but I breastfed her from her first day. The team at PatientsMedical made it possible—it gave me a connection I never thought I could have.”

Angela R., an Intended Mother from Chicago,

“Our mission is to empower mothers in every form,” says Dr. Pooja Patel, at PatientsMedical.com. “For Intended Mothers who didn't carry the pregnancy, induced lactation offers a priceless emotional and biological connection with their child.”

The program includes:

Customized hormone therapy protocols (estrogen, progesterone, domperidone)

Prolactin-stimulating medications and galactagogues

Breast pump support and breast stimulation schedules

IBCLC-certified lactation consultation

Access to milk donor options if supplementation is needed

Weekly virtual visits and community peer support

Optional postpartum counseling and nutrition support

The protocol is based on the established Newman-Goldfarb method, refined by the team at PatientsMedical.com, which has specialized in hormone care since 1974.

“We’ve combined 50+ years of hormone therapy experience with our deep understanding of fertility care to create the first comprehensive lactation program designed for surrogacy families,” says Deepak Gulati, co-founder of Surrogacy4All.

“This is part of our larger vision to support the entire journey—not just conception and birth, but bonding and beyond.”

New Add-On Services for Intended Parents

Surrogacy4All and PatientsMedical are also introducing additional services to support Intended
