

The SoapGirls Return to the U.S. for Wild Summer 2025 Tour and Release New Music Video

International Rock Duo's latest single "She Don't Wanna" shows North America what to expect from the girls' high-energy anthems and fearless stage presence

LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, April 11, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Alternative rock duo The SoapGirls return to the U.S. in May 2025 with a coast-to-coast tour that promises intensity, connection, and pure musical rebellion. The tour will begin on May 15 at The Green Room in Minneapolis, MN and take in shows nationwide, including Chicago's Motoblot festival and legendary venues like Knuckleheads (Kansas City, MO), The Rockwell (Boston, MA) and The Metro Gallery (Baltimore, MD). The U.S. leg of the Wild at Heart tour stretches between May and July 2025, delivering the cathartic, high-voltage rock show that has earned the band a fiercely loyal following across the globe.

We're not just coming to play shows — we're coming to reconnect with our American fans and do what we love most: perform with heart, honesty, and zero compromise”

Camille, The SoapGirls

The tour comes hot on the heels of The SoapGirls releasing their new video for single “She Don't Wanna”, a gritty, emotionally charged anthem of resistance and inner turmoil, which is already making waves across alternative and indie stations in the UK, Europe, and now breaking into U.S. college radio playlists.

“We're not just coming to play shows — we're coming to reconnect with our American fans and do what we love most: perform with heart, honesty, and zero compromise,” says Camille, bass player and joint vocalist with the SoapGirls.

The SoapGirls have released four albums and gained millions of views and streams across YouTube and music streaming platforms, building a community of fans – known as SoapSuds – and continuing to make waves in the music industry on their own terms.

About The SoapGirls

Formed by sisters Noemie (guitar, vocals) and Camille Debray (bass, vocals), this genre-defying alternative rock duo have attracted international attention, critical acclaim and an army of fans. The SoapGirls' sound is a captivating blend of grunge and rock, drawing influences from legends like Alice in Chains, Lamb of God, and Nirvana, as well as Fleetwood Mac, Blondie, and classic rock and pop. Their music is gritty yet melodic, with vocals that range from sweet harmonies to raw growls.
