

RobinHood Diamonds Disrupts Luxury Market with Lab-Grown Jewels and Transparent Pricing

"NYC-based RobinHood Diamonds enhances custom jewelry design offerings, challenging traditional retail diamond shopping experiences."

NEW YORK, NEW YORK, UNITED STATES, April 11, 2025

/EINPresswire.com/ -- RobinHood Diamonds announced today the expansion of its custom jewelry design services at its Manhattan showroom and workshops, offering consumers an alternative to traditional diamond retail experiences.

Located on the third floor at 1156 6th Avenue and 45th Street, the company specializes in lab-grown diamonds and offers direct customer consultations.

Customers praise our approach to service. From initial contact through delivery, we focus on diamond price transparency and craftsmanship excellence, contrasting typical luxury retail experiences.”

William Logian, Co-Founder of RobinHood Diamonds

"Our customers consistently praise our approach to service," said William Logian, co-founder of RobinHood Diamonds. "From initial contact through delivery, we focus on diamond price transparency and excellence in craftsmanship, which contrasts with typical luxury retail experiences."

The company's design process includes hand-drawn sketches, 3D modeling, and in-house fabrication. Customers can choose from various diamond specifications and metals, including 14K or 18K gold in yellow, rose, white, or platinum. RobinHood Diamonds cites quick turnaround times among its advantages, with some custom pieces ready within a week. The company attributes its competitive pricing to eliminating traditional retail markups by working directly with customers at "the jeweler's bench."

This announcement marks the fifth in a series of releases about the company's initiatives in the diamond jewelry market.
