

EV Charging Stations Gain Momentum and Expansion

4EverCharge Awarded 10 New Locations in One Week Amid Surging EV Charging Demand

NEWPORT NEWS VIRGINIA, VA, UNITED STATES, April 14, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- One of the fastest-growing industries in the country now is the charging station needed for electric and hybrid vehicles. 4EverCharge, the nation's premier EV charging franchise, just awarded 10 new franchise locations in the past week alone—proof that demand is accelerating. Entrepreneurs are recognizing the opportunity and joining a movement that's reshaping transportation infrastructure across the U.S.

As the National Electric Vehicle Infrastructure (NEVI) program has paused federal grants, one might think funding is drying up—but the opposite is true. Substantial support remains through state and local programs, private investments, and public-private partnerships. At the same time, EV sales continue to climb, and with them, the demand for reliable charging solutions that can be provided.

John Biagas CEO of 4EverCharge

4EverCharge is led by CEO John Biagas—a highly respected electrical contractor and owner of Bay Electric, a company that has done millions of dollars in electrical work including the Newport News Shipyards. Biagas is also past President of the Independent Electrical Contractors (IEC) with over 4,000 members nationwide—4EverCharge offers a trusted solution to a growing demand. Biagas explains the unique opportunity a potential franchisee can tap into: “The public-private partnership that is happening in the EV charging space is groundbreaking. With public companies being stretched and several exiting the market, having local entrepreneurs install and manage charging stations
