Grants will be distributed in April, empowering these organization to launch or expand summer programs ranging from academic enrichment and mentorship to arts and wellness. Last year, the Community Foundation awarded 18 summer grants, continuing its upward trajectory of community investment.

The Foundation's competitive grantmaking process ensures that awarded nonprofits align with the organization's mission, vision, and values. The process is overseen by the Community Foundation's Community Impact Committee, which is made up of volunteers. Funding comes from charitable funds established by individuals, families, businesses, and organizations committed to driving long-term, local change. The next round of year-round Community Impact Grants will be announced in May, with funding distributed in June.

"Our nonprofit partners are on the frontlines of impact and are familiar with the needs and concerns of those that live and work here," said Danita R. DeHaney, President & CEO of the Community Foundation. "Thanks to the generosity of our donors, we are able to provide flexible
