Written by Diane Corso, author of Skin and Bones, this riveting story follows Maggie Oliver—a once-successful blogger grappling with the devastating aftermath of a tragic car accident that claimed the lives of her husband and young son.

Broken Things invites readers into a world where grief meets mystery. Maggie's quest for healing propels her to the secluded lakeside cabin in the Sierra Nevadas—a sanctuary built from the memories of her past and the legacy of a family steeped in long-hidden secrets. As the quiet isolation of the cabin slowly unravels into a chilling tapestry of recurring nightmares and eerie hauntings, Maggie is thrust into a confrontation with a mysterious shadow world that threatens not only her sanity but also the safety of her new friends.

A Journey of Healing and Haunting Revelations

Rebuilding Amid Ruins: In the wake of overwhelming personal loss, Maggie embarks on a courageous journey to rebuild her life as a writer. Her retreat to the family cabin symbolizes both an escape and a reluctant reunion with the ghosts of her past.

Unseen Forces: As unexplainable phenomena and spectral apparitions begin to plague the secluded retreat, Maggie finds that the cabin has its own, more sinister narrative. Each night brings revelations about her husband's past and the hidden secrets that have long been buried beneath the surface of her family history.

Broken Things
