

Physician launches dandRX™, an Anti-Dandruff Solution for Healthier, Flake-Free Scalps

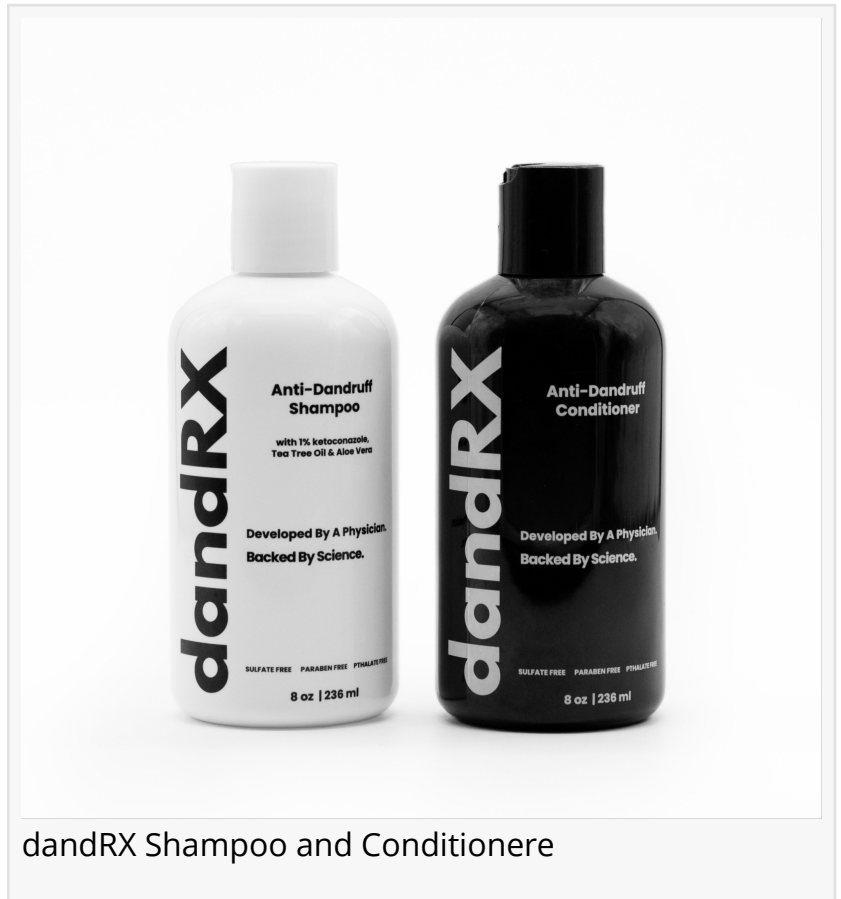

PHILADELPHIA, PA, UNITED STATES, April 12, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- A new anti-dandruff shampoo, developed by a practicing physician, is now available to consumers seeking science-backed scalp care. DandRx™, created by Dr. Deepak Khanna, is formulated with 1% ketoconazole, an antifungal agent commonly used by dermatologists to address dandruff and other scalp conditions.

Dr. Khanna, who has treated patients with chronic scalp issues throughout his career, developed DandRx™ as part of an effort to provide an over-the-counter solution that prioritizes both efficacy and scalp integrity.

“Scalp health often gets overlooked in routine care, yet it plays a central role in overall hair wellness,” said Dr. Khanna. “I wanted to offer something that reflects the clinical knowledge we have about what truly works.”

DandRx™ features 1% ketoconazole to target dandruff-associated fungi. In addition, dandRX is pH-balanced, sulfate-free basee. Ingredients such as tea tree oil, peppermint, and aloe to support scalp comfort and a formulation suitable for various hair types, including color-treated hair.

The product is designed with a light botanical scent and a creamy consistency. It is free of sulfates and parabens, aligning with current preferences for minimal and scalp-conscious formulations.
