“Our explosive growth requires a thoughtful approach to expansion,” said Zeal CEO, Jonathan Ogurchak. “This additional location empowers us to provide more timely access to the life-changing specialty medications that we’re fortunate to manage.”

This new facility builds on the success of the full-service headquarters based in Pittsburgh, PA – including leveraging state-of-the-art technologies for AI automation of front-end operations, and robotic fulfillment operations. This site also ensures business continuity and expansion of dispensing capacity to better support the needs of prescribers, pharma partners, and patients alike.

Construction and licensing will be completed later this year, explains Brenden Harper, Zeal’s Chief Financial Officer. “We’ve established a replicable model in our headquarters facility that allows us to more easily create geographic efficiencies, all while leveraging the operational excellence that has been established over the last two years. Zeal South is the first step in a multi-year approach to service expansion to best meet the needs of our partners and patients.”
