

LOUD Ventures and Persephoni BioPartners LLC Announce Strategic Partnership to Transform Therapeutic Innovation

This collaboration will establish an early-stage venture fund designed to transform the future of healthcare by accelerating early-stage innovation.

PHILADELPHIA, PA, UNITED STATES, April 15, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- LOUD Ventures LLC, the evolved venture platform of LOUD Collective a business value ecosystem combining capital, leadership, and operational expertise, and Persephoni BioPartners LLC, a venture studio advancing visionary science into transformative biotech companies, today announced a strategic collaboration agreement.

LOUD and Persephoni join forces to accelerate the creation and scale of high-value healthcare and life science companies

This collaboration will establish an early-stage venture fund designed to transform the future of healthcare by accelerating early-stage innovation across therapeutics, medical technology, alternative care models, and health infrastructure. LOUD, based in Columbus, OH, and Persephoni, having locations in Philadelphia and Research Triangle Park in North Carolina, will join forces to surround portfolio companies with strategic leadership and development resources through LOUD and Persephoni's deep bench of executive resources and programming.

This partnership is about much more than capital—it's about building a movement to reimagine healthcare access and delivery”

Hilary Schultz, CEO

With a dual focus on financial return and improved health outcomes, the partnership aims to catalyze breakthroughs that promote inclusive, people-centered care for patients, providers, families, and founders. It will accelerate the creation and scale of high-value healthcare and life science companies by investing in early-stage ventures sourced from Persephoni's venture studio and the LOUD Collective ecosystem. With an emphasis on de-risked opportunities aligned to downstream capital, the fund will accelerate access to lead investors for Seed and Series A rounds. LOUD Ventures will serve as fund manager, with both parties collaborating on diligence, fundraising, and portfolio growth, supported by a capital-efficient platform of expert services across R&D, drug development, legal, and healthcare payor and provider networks.

LOUD and Persephoni Leadership Team

“This partnership is about much more than capital—it’s about building a movement to reimagine healthcare access and delivery,” said Hilary Schultz, Chief Executive Officer at Persephoni. “By combining Persephoni’s deep bench of scientific and operational expertise with LOUD’s powerful platform and mission-driven approach, we’re shaping a new kind of healthcare investment model. We are excited to partner with LOUD, which shares our vision for accelerating ventures with experience, execution, and purpose. Together, we are building a model that benefits patients, builders, and investors, driving meaningful therapeutic advancements. With LOUD’s active participation and deep expertise in healthcare, this partnership strengthens our ability to bring groundbreaking therapeutic ventures to market faster.”

“We pride ourselves on building trusted relationships with founders who are navigating some of healthcare’s toughest challenges,” said Navin Goyal, MD, Managing Partner of LOUD. “This collaboration with Persephoni allows us to empower those founders with experienced partners, operational rigor, and a learning mindset—so they’re not building alone, but with the structure and support to move confidently from potential to performance.”

“By aligning incentives and infrastructure across the full venture lifecycle, LOUD Ventures creates a de-risked, high-value pathway for founders, investors, and the broader healthcare ecosystem from discovery to delivery. This integrated model is where science becomes care,” said Buffy Alegria, Managing Partner of LOUD.
