My Outhouse specialises in creating versatile garden rooms that can be used for various purposes, including offices, gyms, studios, garden annexes and more. Whether a customer is looking for a peaceful workplace space, a dedicated fitness area, a man cave or a creative studio, My Outhouse in Hertfordshire can create a bespoke garden building for any requirement.

Using a Which? Trusted Trader like My Outhouse provides several benefits for consumers:

Which?, a well-known consumer organisation, vets traders like My Outhouse to ensure they meet high standards of professionalism, quality, and reliability before allowing them to become a recommended trader.

Traders must also adhere to Which?'s Code of Conduct, offering reassurance that they operate fairly, transparently, and ethically. If issues arise, My Outhouse consumers have access to free dispute resolution services through Which?, helping customers resolve any issues.

Most of all, working with a Trusted Trader like My Outhouse can provide peace of mind. Knowing the company is required to vet their employees, get reviews from real customers, valid insurance documents and has an organisation that regularly monitors them to uphold their code of conduct. Knowing the trader has been thoroughly checked and monitored periodically gives consumers confidence in their decisions, reducing the risk of poor service or scams.

Whatever the desired use, a My Outhouse garden room provides the perfect setting. Built to blend into garden spaces and seamlessly with a home's aesthetic, the outbuildings are designed to expand living spaces without touching an existing property.

As one of the few garden room companies to offer a garden room showroom in Hertfordshire, customers can see what they are buying before committing. As an industry that is predominantly online, the My Outhouse showroom, which opened in 2023, has allowed customers to get a full insight into the high-quality garden rooms they build. My Outhouse opened its showroom to educate customers on the significant differences in quality within the garden room industry. While some garden building companies offer basic structures, My Outhouse specialises in fully insulated, high-quality garden rooms designed for year-round use.

My Outhouse is a modern provider of premium composite garden rooms in Hertfordshire, offering tailored solutions that transform outdoor spaces into functional, stylish, and multi-purpose areas for clients to enjoy in all weathers. Their mission is to create high-quality, custom-built garden rooms that meet each homeowner's unique needs, enhancing their lifestyle with functional spaces that add value to their properties.

Does a fully insulated garden room add value to a property? Yes, with some estate agents estimating between 10-15%.

How much does a fully insulated garden room cost? A 2.5m x 2.5m starts at £13,600 plus VAT; however, opting for a larger room can save customers significantly as the price gets much cheaper as the room gets bigger. For example, a 5m x 5m garden room is £25,000 plus VAT. This will provide four times more space for under half the price ( $2.5 \times 2.5 = 6.25\text{sqm}$  vs  $5\text{m} \times 5\text{m} = 25\text{sqm}$ ).

So, what makes My Outhouse a go-to Which? Trusted Trader? They had to undergo a thorough vetting process, ensuring that only the most reliable, trustworthy, and professional garden room businesses are recognised. This process includes checks for financial stability, customer feedback, and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements.

By choosing a Which? Trusted Trader to build a garden room, consumers are guaranteed a commitment to quality. These traders are held to strict standards for their work, meaning that customers can expect high-quality products and services. The accreditation acts as a seal of approval that ensures the business delivers on its promises, reducing the risk of subpar work or poor customer service.

The Which? Trusted Trader Code of Conduct is designed to protect consumers who work with trusted traders. It ensures that each trader provides the terms of business, contracts, and transparent pricing. If anything goes wrong, customers can access Which?'s free dispute resolution service, which can help resolve issues without the need to incur legal expenses.

Which? makes sure consumers work with garden room companies that gather legitimate reviews from customers to help future customers make the correct decision. Traders like My Outhouse must ensure their reviews are 100% real or they risk losing their endorsement with Which? Magazine.

Being a Which? Trusted Trader means a business has demonstrated professionalism, skill and expertise at a high level. Whether in building, installing or providing additional services, a Which? Trader is expected to be experts in their field and provide customers with one of the best experiences available.

Once a business is awarded the accreditation by Which? Trusted Traders, the business is continually monitored to ensure they always meet the standards set by Which?. This continuous monitoring provides a layer of protection to consumers and helps to ensure a business maintains a top level of care, performance and standards.

If anything goes wrong, customers have access to Which?'s free dispute resolution service, which can help resolve issues without involving costly legal processes.
