

Mikey Lucas Set to Speak at SolarCon 2025, Sharing Wealth-Building Tips for Solar Pros

The American Energy Fund founder will dive into investment strategies on April 16 to help folks in solar think bigger

LAS VEGAS, NV, UNITED STATES, April 16, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Mikey Lucas, a prominent energy investor and founder of American Energy Fund, is slated to join a panel discussion at SolarCon 2025, occurring from April 15 to 17 in Las Vegas. Lucas will take the stage on Wednesday, April 16, during the event's second day. With a career marked by over $180 million in solar project sales and advisory roles with more than 260 businesses, he will offer his perspective on the trajectory of the solar industry and its evolving opportunities, rooted in his deep expertise in energy investments.

"I'm looking forward to seeing how far solar technology has come and connecting with the folks driving commercial adoption," Lucas said ahead of the event. "Solar has seen major growth on the commercial side, and I'm excited to meet with installers and developers who are ready to scale but need the capital to make it happen. That's where the American Energy Fund comes in—we're actively looking for those kinds of investment opportunities."
