Social Proof and Proven Results

Across the United States, top companies are increasingly turning to outsourced AR automation services to optimize processes, boost operational efficiency, enhance financial transparency, and support long-term business growth. The proven impact of these automation solutions on financial operations is undeniable.

A leading healthcare provider in the U.S. has significantly improved its accounts receivable management by adopting automation. Thanks to precise document capture and processing, the organization now handles each invoice in just 4 minutes, drastically reducing processing time and improving overall efficiency.

Taking its digital transformation a step further, the provider has integrated a multichannel capture system that effortlessly processes incoming invoices—whether received via email, online portals, or in paper form. This system has streamlined the entire invoicing process and improved control over cash flow.

IBN Technologies is still at the forefront of providing cutting-edge automation and transformation services that assist finance teams in achieving cost-effectiveness, clarity, and compliance. IBN Technologies continues to be a reliable partner for companies looking for scalable, future-ready financial operations as the demand for these solutions grows.
