Growing Pressure on Internal Finance Functions

The volume and complexity of AP/AR management have increased across sectors. Mid-sized and large U.S. companies are facing recurring obstacles that hinder timely reporting and impact working capital.

Current Challenges in AP/AR Management:

1. Delayed invoice approvals and payment processing
2. Growing Days Sales Outstanding (DSO) and overdue receivables
3. Limited internal capacity for consistent follow-up and escalation
4. Inaccuracies in cash application, reporting, and vendor reconciliation
5. Inefficient month-end close cycles under audit pressure

These ongoing issues are straining internal finance teams and directly impacting cash flow, vendor relationships, and overall financial visibility. As these challenges intensify, organizations are reassessing their approach to AP/AR operations in pursuit of greater consistency and control.

Offshore AP and AR Support: A Practical, Proven Solution

As finance teams shrink and reporting demands grow, more companies are turning to offshore AP/AR support not only to cut costs but to restore accuracy, predictability, and control in financial operations. IBN Technologies deliver fully managed solutions that integrate with existing systems and follow U.S. compliance standards.

“Accounts payable and receivable are critical domain that directly affect cash flow, vendor confidence, and audit readiness, when in-house teams are stretched too thin, outsourcing becomes a strategic decision—not just a financial one,” said Ajay Mehta CEO at IBN Technologies.
