Andreassen started singing in church at age 5 and has spoken in church her entire life. "I preached my first official sermon when I was in middle school." Says Andreassen, "I am a fourth-generation media person. My great-grandfather was a minister, and my grandpa preached on the radio in the 1940s while my mom and her sisters, known as the Harman sisters, sang. They did radio and traveled to different locations. I am so blessed to be a part of this wonderful summit as I love bringing interactive teaching, coaching, and training to women."

Andreassen's sister mentored her business as a teenager, and she bought her first real estate property at 19, got her real estate license, and quickly became a top performer. By the time she was 27, she became a National Speaker and Sales Trainer for Realtor.com (NWSA), where she ranked in the President's Club, rose in ranks in conducting sales training for the entire national sales force, and was #1 in sales in her region. From there, she grew a 7-figure branding, website development, SEO, and online lead generation marketing strategy company from the bonus room of her home and a toddler on her hip, showing Realtors how to maximize their presence by building a personal brand and developing an online presence. She became the #1 Authority in helping the top 1% of sales executives and became higher in demand with the launch of her #1 Best Selling Book, Interfusion Marketing. As CEO, she secured strategic partnerships with RE/MAX, Keller Williams, and the National Association of Realtors (NAR). While leading the company, her personal brand exploded, where she spoke for the largest franchise conventions such as Keller Williams Realty, Century 21, RE/MAX, Prudential, State Associations, the National Association of Realtors, and many more. She solidified herself as a prominent brand. In 2016, Andreassen had a personal calling to help stories of faith get evangelized through the written word. As she shared her message with others, such as John Maxwell leadership coaches, she began to help leaders of faith learn how to grow their heart-filled messages to expand their reach and collaborate on CoAuthor projects to reach more people.

“When you unlock your inner warrior, you begin to realize the power of your story and how your voice can make a difference on someone else's life.”

Tricia Andreassen

Andreassen's decades of experience have her featured globally on NBC, CBS, ABC, FOX, and even working on set live with Dr. Oz, 20/20, GMA, Good Morning Britain, 700 Club Canada, as well as being on conference stages such as the Global Media Summit. "Over the last few years, a lot of people have gone into different fields of coaching," says Andreassen. "The challenge is that these coaches who say they are coaches have never gotten extensive certifications and education in learning how to become certified as a coach. They have never built companies or personal brands. They have never seen 7 figures in sales. They have never been in front of thousands of people and are coaching on how to do it. Even worse, they personally have never hired a coach for themselves. It really frustrates me because 96% of businesses fail within the first 5 years, and they don't know where to get help or who to go to. That is why I am also glad to know Kelly, who has a background in leadership and business like I do. " She continues.

Kelly A. Gormeley Soto has organized this faith-filled summit to pour into the hearts and minds of women who have a deep desire in their hearts to have better lives, careers, and businesses. My speaking will entail sharing how to get clear and move forward with a specific plan to grow your life and apply it to business decisions. My hope is that I am able to share some powerful insights at this free event and provide a solid foundation for success. If someone is willing to implement it, the roadmap I will share will be life-changing. Kelly is an incredible leader and a powerful coach to women. She knows how to help women build their wealth and legacy. With that, she also crosses over to help women who need spiritual insight and direction to improve their lives. I am the woman, wife, mom, and business leader inspired to know and learn from her." Comments Andreassen
