

ValueRays® Highlights Amazon's Choice Recognition for Heated Mouse Advanced Model

Be among thousands of ValueRays Heated Mouse Advanced owners. Infrared heats the object not the air around it relaxing stiff muscles and overworked hands.

PALM SPRINGS, CA, UNITED STATES, May 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- ValueRays®, a developer of infrared heated computer accessories, has announced that its Heated Mouse Advanced model has been designated as an Amazon's Choice product. The recognition reflects the model's continued performance and customer satisfaction among buyers seeking ergonomic solutions for cold-hand relief at the computer.

The ValueRays Heated Mouse Advanced is part of the company's broader line of USB and USB-C infrared mice, designed to address the needs of individuals working in air-conditioned or cold environments. The mouse is equipped with an internal carbon fiber heating element that emits low-voltage infrared warmth to the user's hand. It is frequently used by individuals managing poor circulation, arthritis, and cold sensitivity.
