"Winning a Gold Stevie® Award is a tremendous honor, and a reflection of our core values and ethos. I take great pride in propelling our clients and the great work that they do into the spotlight of both national and international media. This kind of intentionality leads to a purpose driven work ethic that makes up the cornerstone of how this agency is able to deliver such outstanding results," said Myra Godfrey, President & CEO of Jaya Jaya Myra Productions.

Jaya Jaya Myra Productions has carved out a distinctive space in the world of PR through its bold guarantee of client success in media relations and forward-thinking, data-led approach to storytelling. The agency has a strong track record of propelling entrepreneurs and CEOs into the spotlight rapidly. The agency's unmatched campaign results speak for themselves. From generating nearly 400 earned media placements for one client in just five months, to securing 1,600+ earned media placements for another across national networks and business press over the span of two years, Jaya Jaya Myra Productions is raising the bar for what's possible in public relations.

Behind these amazing results is a team of expert communicators and former journalists who believe in the power of storytelling to create lasting change. The company ethos centers on intentional, purpose-driven communication that creates impact. This is seen in the company's specialization of working with companies and organizations that are actively creating positive change in the world—whether by advancing technology, improving mental, emotional or physical health, promoting sustainability, or fostering equity.

"Running an effective PR and communication agency takes dedication, tenacity, and clear, focused willpower to achieve consistent, meaningful results. It also takes kindness, presence and the ability to nurture meaningful relationships on a human level. I love this work and being able to use something I'm good at to help others excel and stand out brings me deep gratitude and joy," says Myra Godfrey.
