In this book, Dr. Yurvati takes readers on a powerful journey through his life, continuing the story he began in the books "Wet My Hands" and "This to Me." His experiences, from his childhood in Allentown, Pennsylvania, to the challenges of transitioning from doctor to caregiver, offer a rare, authentic perspective on life's unpredictable challenges. A recent diagnosis of multiple myeloma, an incurable cancer of the bone marrow, added another layer to his profound journey, making his story even more relevant and inspiring for those battling their own challenges.

Dr. Yurvati's latest book reveals the courage, wisdom, and humor that have carried him through. As someone who has experienced both sides of the medical profession—as both doctor and patient—Dr. Yurvati shares life lessons that resonate beyond the hospital walls. His work reminds readers that life, no matter how difficult, is full of opportunities to learn, grow, and persevere.

At this year's LA Times Festival of Books, "30 Degrees on Bypass" will be featured by The Reading

Glass Books at Booth #959 in the Black Zone at the University of Southern California.

"30 Degrees on Bypass" motivates readers to embrace life to the fullest and strive to be the best version of themselves. An engaging and inspirational read, this book is now available for purchase on Amazon. For more information about Dr. Yurvati, visit www.AlbertHYurvati.com.
