

Thomas Cuisine Honored as a Top 5 Best Place to Work in Southwest Idaho

Foodservice Management Company Earns Dual-State Recognition in Idaho and Washington's 2025 Best Places to Work Rankings

MERIDIAN, ID, UNITED STATES, April 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Thomas Cuisine has been named one of the Top 5 Best Places to Work in Southwest Idaho in the macro-employer category, as well as receiving an honorable mention statewide, by the 2025 Best Places to Work in Idaho® program. In addition to these accolades, Thomas Cuisine was also recognized on the statewide list of Best Places to Work in Washington. This recognition celebrates workplaces where employees feel valued, supported, and inspired — and at Thomas Cuisine, it's a reflection of a culture built on purpose, care, and connection.

This honor is incredibly meaningful to us because it affirms what we've always believed: when you build a culture rooted in purpose and surround yourself with people who really care, it shows.”

of Thomas Cuisine*

The Best Places to Work awards are based entirely on employee feedback collected through confidential surveys conducted by POPULUS, an independent research firm. Responses measure satisfaction in key areas such as compensation and benefits, work environment, leadership, and overall employee experience. Because this program is 100% employee-driven, it makes the recognition especially meaningful.

“This honor is incredibly meaningful to us because it affirms what we've always believed: when you build a culture rooted in purpose and surround yourself with people who really care, it shows,” shares Alison Patt, President and CEO of Thomas Cuisine. “From the beginning, Thomas Cuisine has been grounded in values that connect us to our mission and that culture lives on today through the passion and dedication of our team members.”
