CloudOffix, the world's first Low-Code

Total Experience Platform, proudly announces its participation as an exhibitor and sponsor at M-Files IMPACT 2025, taking place in Athens, Greece, from May 5–8, 2025.

As a pioneer reshaping the future of front-office digitalization, CloudOffix blends the power of Low-Code, Total Experience, and Total AI into a single, natively unified ecosystem. At IMPACT 2025, CloudOffix will unveil its latest innovations — including customizable AI Agents, intelligent AI Assistants, and an autonomous, fully integrated platform that doesn't just manage workflows, but understands, adapts, and acts to drive real business outcomes.

"Today's digital transformation demands more than just automation — it demands a natively consolidated digital environment, not a patchwork of disconnected tools," said Gokhan Erdogan, CEO of CloudOffix. "That's exactly what we deliver with CloudOffix — a smarter, unified, and truly future-ready digital ecosystem. At IMPACT 2025, we are thrilled to showcase how organizations can leap beyond traditional digitalization into a more human-centered, intelligent future."

CloudOffix is also actively seeking new partner candidates during the event. The CloudOffix Partner Program offers dynamic opportunities for consulting firms, solution providers, and digital innovators to expand their service portfolios and grow their client networks across global markets. Serving primarily mid-sized to large enterprises, CloudOffix aligns perfectly with M-Files' target audience, making it a natural and strategic complement to M-Files solutions.

Through its unique vision of the three pillars of digital transformation —

- ERP for back-office operations,
- Document Management for company knowledge (the living legacy of the enterprise),
- and Front-Office Digitalization for customer and employee experience —

CloudOffix and M-Files together enable companies to achieve a truly complete and sustainable digital transformation.

While M-Files secures and manages critical document knowledge, CloudOffix empowers organizations to seamlessly run front-office processes, offering a truly consolidated and AI-powered digital environment.

Throughout the event, attendees are invited to meet with Gokhan Erdogan and the CloudOffix team to explore how partnering with CloudOffix can open new doors for business growth and digital leadership. One-on-one meeting slots with the CEO are now available and are expected to fill quickly.

CloudOffix's presence at M-Files IMPACT 2025 highlights its commitment to building a smarter, more connected world — where businesses move beyond fragmented systems and embrace a seamless, AI-powered front-office transformation.
