

From Gilded Age to Glitzy Gala: Consuelo Vanderbilt Costin Hosts Riverside Reverie on Fisher Island

NEW YORK, NY, UNITED STATES, April 29, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- On a balmy spring evening off the coast of Miami Beach, modern-day Vanderbilt and philanthropist Consuelo Vanderbilt Costin welcomed a handpicked group of elite guests to "Riverside Reverie," a glamorous celebration held at the historic Vanderbilt Mansion on Fisher Island.

The event marked a poignant full-circle moment in the Vanderbilt family narrative. Nearly a century ago, Consuelo's ancestor William K. Vanderbilt II, a railroad magnate and yachtsman, acquired Fisher Island in 1925 in exchange for a luxury yacht. He transformed the once-uninhabited island into a private haven of refinement and exclusivity—constructing the opulent Mediterranean-style estate that became the evening's setting.

The evening, co-hosted by philanthropist Marta Bloom, introduced a new era of luxury to a select gathering of Miami tastemakers, travel advisors, media, influencers, and Fisher Island residents. In keeping with the Gilded Age glamour of its surroundings, guests were immersed in an experience curated to evoke the elegance of Europe's grand waterways.

The brand's Founder and Owner, Mr. Gregor Gerlach, was on hand to share his vision of sophisticated travel across Europe's storied rivers, while North American CEO Jennifer Halboth spoke to the brand's promise of intuitive, high-touch service designed for today's most discerning travelers. "We were delighted to share a glimpse of this ultra-luxury experience with a new audience on beautiful Fisher Island," said Halboth. "The strong interest we observed indicates a genuine appreciation for the style of travel we offer, and we look forward to welcoming these guests onboard our ships so they can experience it firsthand."
