With the April 30 Deadline Hours Away, TaxZerone Offers a Simple and Reliable Solution to Help Businesses Ensure Compliance Before Time Runs Out

SAN JOSE, CA, UNITED STATES, April 30, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The deadline to file IRS Form 941 for the first quarter of 2025 is today, April 30, and businesses across the country now face the final hours to ensure compliance with federal reporting requirements. The Form 941, also known as the Employer's Quarterly Federal Tax Return, is a critical filing that reports income taxes, Social Security tax, or Medicare tax withheld from employee paychecks, as well as the employer's portion of Social Security and Medicare tax.

Businesses that fail to file the return on time may face IRS-imposed penalties and interest, making timely submission essential. As the window to file narrows, tax professionals and employers are being advised to act immediately.

"Many businesses leave their filing to the last day, but that comes with risk," said Alexia Zepeda, a spokesperson at TaxZerone, an IRS-authorized electronic filing provider. "Errors made in a rush or delays in transmission can result in missed deadlines. The final hours before the IRS cutoff are crucial."

TaxZerone has reported a significant increase in user activity in the past 24 hours as businesses attempt to meet the April 30 deadline. The platform offers electronic filing for Form 941 with features that aim to minimize the risk of rejection and simplify the submission process, especially for businesses managing multiple entities or complex filings.

What Business Filers Need to Know Today

For those who have not yet filed, time is critical. Users with an existing account are encouraged to log in, initiate the Form 941 process, and transmit the return without delay. Filing electronically remains the fastest and most secure option, especially when paper processing times at the IRS remain unpredictable.

"Today is not the day to put filing off," the spokesperson added. "If you're a business responsible for employment taxes, and you haven't filed yet, this is your final window."

About Form 941

IRS Form 941 must be filed quarterly by employers to report tax withholdings and employer contributions. For the first quarter of 2025, the filing covers wages paid during January, February, and March. The deadline is fixed at the last day of the month following the end of the quarter — in this case, April 30, 2025.

Failure to file by the deadline or pay the associated taxes can result in penalties of up to 5% of the tax due per month, up to a maximum of 25%, in addition to interest on unpaid amounts.
