Kelly Terry, President and CEO of Overhead Door Corporation.

leading provider of door and access solutions for commercial, industrial, and residential applications, is pleased to announce the acquisition of Pasco Doors, effective May 1, 2025. Based in Pomona, California, Pasco Doors is a trusted expert in the service and installation of automatic door products throughout Southern California.

Pasco Doors will continue to operate under their existing name as part of Door Services Corporation (a Horton Pedestrian Access Solutions brand) a division of Overhead Door Corporation, dedicated to providing world-class pedestrian access installation and service solutions.

"We're thrilled to welcome Pasco Doors into our Horton and Door Services family. Their skilled team and established presence will help us drive new opportunities and better serve customers across southern California," said Kelly Terry, President and CEO of Overhead Door Corporation.

With more than 25 years of proven experience, Pasco Doors is known for delivering elegant, reliable automatic door solutions. Their expertise includes the installation and service of automatic sliding doors, swinging doors, folding doors, revolving doors, and ICU doors, including both manual and positive latching systems.

"Joining forces with Overhead Door Corporation opens a world of possibilities. We're excited to leverage their resources and reach while continuing to provide the exceptional service our customers expect," said Greg Stromberg, Vice President of Pasco Doors.

"This is a proud moment for us. Partnering with Horton and Door Services Corporation ensures our legacy of excellence will thrive as part of a larger, dynamic organization," added President Brent Stromberg.

The acquisition reinforces Overhead Door Corporation's ongoing commitment to delivering outstanding products, service, and support to customers nationwide — and marks a significant step forward in expanding the company's presence in the vital Southern California market.
