Love Home Renovations

Founded in 2018 by Jonathan Galuti, Love Home Renovations combines architectural creativity with hands-on construction expertise.

Galuti began his career over a decade ago as a project manager for a large Los Angeles construction company, where he gained valuable experience overseeing custom home builds and full-scale renovations. His understanding of local architecture, building codes, and client priorities laid the foundation for the firm's success.

The company's work is deeply rooted in a philosophy of craftsmanship and intentionality. Every project reflects an attention to detail that balances structure, comfort, and aesthetic refinement. From architectural planning to the final finish, Love Home Renovations aims to create spaces that feel as good as they look.

One of the featured projects in the Home Builder Digest article is a new custom home on Mulholland Drive. The design showcases the firm's signature approach: a high wood-beam ceiling that expands the sense of space, ample natural lighting, premium cabinetry, and natural wood floors that bring warmth and elegance to the contemporary layout.

Beyond construction, clients turn to Love Home Renovations for its collaborative design process, transparent communication, and ability to bring architectural visions to life with both artistry and efficiency.

With projects spanning full-home remodels, kitchen and bathroom renovations, and ground-up construction, the company continues to serve homeowners across Los Angeles with tailored solutions that prioritize livability, beauty, and long-term value.
