

Hawaii Medical College Launches Basic Nurse Aide Program to Meet Growing Healthcare Demand

HONOLULU, HI, UNITED STATES, May 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hawaii Medical College is proud to announce the launch of its Basic Nurse Aide Program, designed to provide students with the essential skills and training required to enter the healthcare industry as compassionate and competent caregivers. With the increasing demand for healthcare professionals across Hawaii, this program offers a crucial pathway for individuals looking to start a rewarding career in patient care.

The Basic Nurse Aide Program at Hawaii Medical College prepares students for the roles of Nurse Aide, Nursing Assistant, and Home Health Aide. The program covers introducing, practicing and assessment of skills: Vital Signs, patient/resident assistance with Activities of Daily Living (ADL's), or full care of patients/residents in the hospital bed, wheelchair/chair, along with professional communication to ensure patient/resident safety in a long-term care facility, independent living and home (home health). Through a combination of lectures, working in the lab, and experience at either HMC Home Care or HMC Care Home, students will gain the
