

HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice Journal Selected for Inclusion in Web of Science Database

ANAHEIM, CA, UNITED STATES, May 6, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice has recently been selected for inclusion in the Web of Science™, the world's most trusted publisher-independent global citation database for journals, books, and conference proceedings. The Journal was evaluated on 24 quality criteria designed to select for editorial rigor and best practice.

Articles published after 2023, beginning with volume 7(1) will be included in the Emerging Sources Citation Index. The Journal will be included in a future edition of the Journal Citation Reports™ (JCR) and is expected to receive a Journal Impact Factor™ (JIF™) within the next 12-24 months.

HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice, the official journal of the Institute for Healthcare Advancement, is an online-only, open access journal dedicated to the dissemination of high-quality behavioral and clinical research that bridges health literacy research with best practices. This interdisciplinary and international journal promotes excellence in research to advance the field of health literacy, promote health equity, and reduce health disparities. The Journal is currently in its 9th volume.

Dr. Michael Paasche-Orlow, Editor-in-Chief of HLRP, writes: "It has been an honor to serve the Journal, and I am grateful that we have arrived together at this excellent milestone. Clear and effective science, health, and public health communication and empowerment are urgently needed. Our work with HLRP: Health Literacy Research and Practice is part of the solution."
