

Macy Gray And FJ Productions Announce The Untitled Macy Gray Documentary

Featuring Never Before Seen Footage Of Her Journey From Natalie Renée McIntyre To Macy Gray

LOS ANGELES, CA, UNITED STATES, May 7, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Macy Gray is hitting the road to celebrate the 25th anniversary world tour of her first major studio album, "On How Life Is," touring across 13 countries, all while documenting her unforgettable journey along the way.

The Grammy Award-winning singer, best known for her hit "I Try," has previously been reluctant to share her personal story. However, Macy shared why now is the right time: "It has been over two decades since I began my journey as an artist, and I am excited to invite my fans into my world. I want to share how my life experiences have shaped me – through my perspective, my words, and my journey."

The documentary will explore Macy's creative process as she opens her home, tour bus, studio, and archives to the audience. It will highlight her struggles with fame, fortune, substance abuse, and mental health, which nearly derailed her career. Viewers will get an inside look at the re-recording process of her hits, featuring various superstars and artists.

Rapper/Record Producer 88-Keys, best known for his work with artists like Kid Cudi, Sia, Frank Ocean, Jay-Z, and Mos Def, previously remixed Macy's hit "Why Didn't You Call Me" in 2000. He will again lend his talents to her new album. The reunion of the duo is a welcomed collaboration. 88-Keys expressed his enthusiasm, saying, "Looking forward to linking back up with Macy after all these years. I already have an idea of how I'd like to approach this project and am really curious to hear where her pen will take us this next go 'round."

Filmmaker Snypes Murdock, previously with HBO and LL Cool J's Rock The Bells Company, is directing the documentary. The production team includes former Sony Pictures Acquisitions Executive Daniel de Boulay as Producer, along with Fabio Golombek and Shannon Alexander from FJ Productions.

2025 has been a busy year for Macy. In addition to her new album, nearly sold-out tour, and forthcoming documentary, she has been active in her acting career. She lent her voice to the animated film "Sneaks," which was released in theaters on April 18th. Macy also shared the screen with Kate Mara in "The Astronaut," a film that premiered at the 2025 SXSW Film & TV Festival, and participated in the reality singing competition show "The Masked Singer UK." She also captured attention in 2024 with her exciting season on MTV's "The Surreal Life: Villa of Secrets."
