Under the terms of the deal, Zylpha's Court and document bundling platform will integrate directly with the Bedrock case management system, reducing the time taken to create court-compliant bundles with its user-friendly experience.

Zylpha leads the field with its electronic bundling platform, and its knowledge and expertise when it comes to integrating its systems is unparalleled”

Adam Makepeace, Head of Software. Bedrock

Offering considerable value and market affordability, Bedrock supports all standard functionality of running a law firm, including managing office and client account ledgers for those undertaking work on a privately funded basis. Bedrock has been developed specifically to support the needs of legal aid practitioners; with a dedicated 'best of breed' workflow, which includes catering to criminal defence teams and their requirements.

Commenting on the strategic partnership Adam Makepeace Head of Software of Bedrock said,

“We are delighted to have partnered with Zylpha and have been working with their team to develop an easy-to-use integration between the two platforms. They have a great deal of experience with technology in the legal sector, are easy to work with, and have a very exciting roadmap of new features and enhancements which I know our clients will benefit from. We look forward to working with them over the coming months and years whilst continuing our mutually beneficial collaboration in the legal sector.

electronic Court bundling provider, it became obvious to partner with Zylpha. For Bedrock, not only do our users benefit from a feature-rich, cloud-based case management system but Zylpha can streamline the bundling process. Our clients are already benefiting from the integration and the overall bundling platform. Combined, both platforms make a real difference in terms of efficiency whilst reducing costs and delivering an improved experience to a law firm and their clients."

Zylpha announce partnership with Bedrock

For his part, Tim Long CEO of Zylpha welcomed Adam's comments adding, "We're really impressed by the tremendous customer satisfaction across the growing Bedrock customer base. Whilst new to the market, Bedrock's cloud approach to a modern case management system caught our attention. We are pleased with the opportunity for their case management system to be integrated with our electronic bundling platform. We look forward to working closely with them on building the combined brands."
