Under the leadership of D&G Solutions, Solerity will leverage its expertise in logistics technology, cybersecurity, and data integration, to optimize the flow of personnel and equipment worldwide. By integrating with TRANSCOM's Integrated Development Environment/Global Transportation Network (IGC) and the Defense Logistics Agency's (DLA) Enterprise Business System, Solerity will contribute to a unified, mission-ready platform that enhances real-time tracking and operational decision-making.

"Partnering with D&G Solutions on the IGC contract is a tremendous opportunity to support TRANSCOM's vital mission," said Babs Doherty, President and CEO at Solerity. "Our team is committed to delivering innovative solutions that strengthen logistics operations and ensure readiness across global military engagements."

This contract reinforces Solerity's dedication to providing cutting-edge technology and strategic solutions that drive efficiency, resilience, and operational effectiveness in military logistics. Through collaboration with D&G Solutions, Solerity aims to help TRANSCOM navigate the complexities of global supply chain management while enhancing security and interoperability across defense systems.
