

Lorin Industries Offers Solution to Supply Chain Chaos with U.S.-Sourced, Tariff-Free* Anodized Aluminum Options

MUSKEGON, MI, UNITED STATES, May 13, 2025 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Global supply chain disruptions and overseas tariffs continue to wreak havoc on pricing and delivery timelines. Lorin Industries is stepping up with a smarter, more stable solution. Lorin's anodized aluminum is sourced in the United States and processed at its world-class facility in Michigan, providing tariff-free* products to customers with competitive solutions.

Manufacturers, fabricators, and builders looking for high-performance metal solutions without international delays or pricing uncertainty can rely on Lorin's consistent quality and responsive delivery. By keeping sourcing and processing stateside, Lorin® removes the guesswork and the drama from the procurement process.

"We understand the frustrations that come with unpredictable overseas lead times, shipping delays, and especially escalating tariffs," said Park Kersman, CEO, at Lorin Industries. "That's why we're offering a domestic solution that delivers both premium results without the cost of tariffs."

Lorin's coil-anodized aluminum is trusted across various industries for its durability, sustainability, and aesthetic appeal. From architectural applications to industrial use cases, the company's commitment to quality and reliability makes it a go-to resource for forward-thinking professionals.
