the UAE struggling with leg pain, visible veins, or chronic venous conditions now have access to expert care through Dr. Soroush Sohrabi, a UK-trained consultant vascular and endovascular surgeon. Renowned for his precision and patient-focused approach, Dr. Soroush Sohrabi offers state-of-the-art varicose vein treatment in Dubai and spider vein treatment in Dubai, utilizing advanced, image-guided techniques for safety, comfort, and effectiveness. Varicose veins and spider veins are common vascular issues, particularly in hot climates like Dubai, where standing for long hours or exposure to heat can aggravate symptoms. These conditions may begin as mild discomfort or purely cosmetic concerns. However, in some patients, they can progress to ongoing leg pain, swelling, pigmentation, or even skin ulceration if not addressed. Even at early stages, visible veins can impact confidence, self-image, and daily comfort.

Dr. Soroush Sohrabi brings a global standard of care to the UAE with international training in the United Kingdom, Australia, and the United States. His treatment approach combines evidence-based medicine, cutting-edge technology, and individualized planning.

“Minimally invasive procedures have revolutionized varicose vein treatment in Dubai,” says Dr. Sohrabi. “Patients can now achieve long-term relief with minimal downtime and excellent cosmetic outcomes.”

Advanced Treatment Options

Dr. Soroush Sohrabi specializes in non-surgical and catheter-based therapies, avoiding general anesthesia and ensuring faster recovery. His key treatment offerings include:

- Endovenous Laser Ablation (EVLA): Laser energy seals the vein from within, performed under local anesthesia.

- Radiofrequency Ablation (RFA): Uses heat via radiofrequency waves to collapse faulty veins with minimal discomfort.
- ClariVein® Mechanochemical Ablation: Combines mechanical rotation and sclerosing agent to close veins without heat.
- Ultrasound-Guided Foam Sclerotherapy: Effective for spider veins and residual varicosities using foamed sclerosants.

Most procedures are outpatient, allowing patients to resume normal activity within 1–2 days.

Precision Diagnostics and Personalized Planning

Every treatment begins with a comprehensive Doppler ultrasound to map vein flow and detect reflux. This diagnostic step is critical for tailoring treatment to each patient's anatomy and severity.

"No two cases are the same," Dr. Sohrabi explains. "Personalized planning ensures that each patient receives the most effective outcome."

He also prioritizes:

- Transparent education and pre-treatment discussion
- Compression therapy when clinically appropriate
- Structured long-term follow-up

Who Can Benefit from Treatment?

Patients may benefit from evaluation if they experience:

- Persistent heaviness or aching in the legs
- Night-time cramps
- Visible spider veins or bulging varicose veins
- Ankle swelling or discoloration
- Skin changes or itching near the lower legs
